

SOUTH DISTRICT SCHOOL PLANS—Before the voters Friday will be a $2,150,000 bond issue for expansion of facilities of Sequoia High School Dist. This is the architect's sketch of the proposed Menlo Park-Atherton high school which will be constructed if the bond issue passes. The unit, which will house 800 students at first, will be expanded as the need arises, district officials explain. The funnel-shaped building on the left is the auditorium (to be built later). Next to the auditorium is a multi-purpose room to be used as a cafeteria, little theater. The one-story type of building was judged by experts to be the least expensive and most practical for this area.

Voters Must Settle Sequoia Problem

We come now to a crossroads in the history of Sequoia Union High School. We come to it on election day, Friday, when the voters will elect two members of the board of trustees and will decide the fate of a bond issue.

Sequoia is an old, established secondary public school with an excellent reputation—excellent, that is, until it became one of the experimental schools in the so-called progressive education system which took hold in the late thirties. Sequoia, rightly or wrongly, has been considered something of a laboratory for the Stanford School of Education, which is somewhat left of center in its methods and techniques.

In 1946, Dr. John C. Almack of Stanford, who is a fundamentalist in education and an outspoken critic of leftist tendencies in public instruction, surveyed the school. He measured deficiencies in the teaching of history and English.

The Sequoia faculty opposed his recommendations. The people apparently favored them. The people prevailed in the 1948 elections when the Almack report was an issue. The newly united board of trustees forthwith voted to put into effect the Almack recommendations as they concerned counseling and the teaching of history and English. The administrator resigned and new administrators were appointed.

In the months which have followed there has been much trouble at Sequoia.

One side argues that the trouble starts with the board and goes from the administration down. The other side contends that the difficulties have been encouraged from within.

There has been a faculty revolt. We are of the opinion that it originates with a half-dozen of the faculty old guard which formerly exercised great influence upon the administration of the school. By merely failing to cooperate they have been able to cause friction. By neglecting proper functions, by seizing upon the mistakes of the new administrators, they have been able to create distrust and inharmonious. These devices are designed to create such poor public relations for the school that the people will demand a change.

To encourage this change, the candidates favored and financed to some degree by the faculty group, have abandoned the stand against the Almack report. There is no request to return the disputed "social living" course, or to restore former administrators to office. The opponents of the incumbents say "me too" when the question of the Almack recommendations is raised.

The issue for the moment is not progressive education. It is control of the school.

A united board of trustees now controls it. There is no possibility of maintaining this unanimity unless we reelect Brewer and Hilton.

If the anti-administration candidates are elected, this board will be divided. There will be division of opinion and quarreling at the top level of the institution, and perhaps by 1950 the voters would seek another change to restore the harmony destroyed in 1949.

It is our belief that the harmony now demonstrated by the board can be carried to the faculty. The method is not to elect faculty candidates to the board, but to so organize the faculty that it is responsive to the will of the electorate.

Sequoia needs nothing so much as rest from turmoil. If there are faculty members who have encouraged turmoil, they should not be teaching children here or elsewhere. They are in the wrong profession.

And our voters need nothing so much as wisdom, for which they will pray, when they go to the polling places on Friday. The cause is a profound one, involving differing philosophies of education. Either we will turn to the right by reelecting Brewer and Hilton, or we will take the other leg of the crossroads. Where it leads we do not know, but certainly its first direction sign is "trouble." Two incumbent trustees, Clifford Woodhams and Merritt Hosmer, have endorsed Hilton and Brewer. The implication is plain.

To those who believe as we do in fundamentals in secondary education; to those who deplore as we do the frills and fads of progressivism; to those who deplore as we do the measured deficiencies in education at Sequoia we say this: Close ranks and give the board one more mandate!

One more mandate to put down the faculty rebellion and to restore order at this great school by the reelection of Brewer and Hilton.

Lt. Gov. Knight Tells Need For Service Clubs at RC Fete

The importance of the service clubs was emphasized this week by Lt. Gov. Goodwin Knight in his speech to 160 members of these clubs in Redwood City. The occasion was the annual service club dinner at Villa Chartier.

Knight pointed out that it is men such as those who are members of service, fraternal, and church organizations—the taxpayers, the civic leaders, the businessmen—who are doing so much to perpetuate the American principles against the dictatorships which have spread through most of the other parts of the world. Knight also attacked Russia and charges of the inherited riches on natural resources upon which the Americans are feasting, by pointing out that such riches exist in China, Africa, and South America but loss of freedom of speech in those areas has also retarded progress in those areas.

The speaker was introduced by Harrison Call, master of ceremonies and member of the host Commuters Club.

Sequoia Teacher Unit Votes Hands-Off Plan

The Associated Teachers of Sequoia High School this week announced that it would maintain a hands-off policy in connection with Friday's school board election.

The decision not to participate as an organization in the election was drafted in a resolution by Fred Pinkham and adopted unanimously by the 76 teachers present at a meeting held in the high school library.

The Pinkham resolution, while calling for a hands-off policy, attacked what it called the "unethical, unwarranted and unwanted" involvement of the teachers by political groups, and statements "based upon distorted fact, rumor and fancy" which "tear down the confidence in teachers."

In addition, the resolution: 1. Demanded that the school board give "a reasonable explanation of its part in the unprecedented number of dismissals and resignations of staff members."

2. Urged voters to back the bond issue which is to supply funds for "sorely needed facilities."

Apart from the Pinkham resolution, the teachers, at the motion of Irene Bolla, an English teacher, decided to submit the following question to the entire teacher body: "Do you believe that the educational effectiveness of Sequoia Union High School has been impaired by conditions beyond the control of teachers?"

The 76 present at Monday's meeting took a secret ballot on that question. The rest of the 125 teachers employed at Sequoia Union High School balloted this morning, and the following result was announced: Yes 75; No 22.

There were five blank ballots. Eighteen teachers did not vote, three of them because they were absent from school.

As Miss Bolla phrased the question, it read simply "Do you believe that the educational effectiveness of Sequoia Union High School has been impaired?"

However, at the suggestion of Don Kauffman, mathematics teacher, the phrase "by conditions beyond the control of teachers" was added.

Miss Bolla said that she made her motion because: "The Redwood City Tribune has stated that all is well at Sequoia, that all are satisfied, except for a 'disgruntled few.'"

She added that she wanted "an honest statement about how the majority of the teachers does feel."

"I'm tired of hearing about a 'minority group,'" Miss Bolla declared. "I believe there is a majority group."

When some of the teachers at the meeting pointed out that the question to be voted on was on a vague side, and subject to possible misinterpretation, Don Brown, who had seconded Miss Bolla's motion, explained lightly: "I seconded the motion on the basis that it means: Is you disgruntled or is you not?"

He did not elaborate, however, at what or at whom the teachers were alleged to be disgruntled. The meeting was opened by Francis Hutchinson, president of the teachers association.

Miss Bolla then took the floor and read a statement from Pinkham, who was not present at the meeting, submitted what Pinkham called the "rough draft" of his resolution, and her own motion.

Pinkham's statement, which preceded the reading of the resolution, elaborated on the "ramifications of the changes in policy, plans, practices and personnel" at Sequoia during the past year. The results of these "ramifications," Pinkham stated, are "that some of us are more confident, some hopeful, some frustrated, some confused, some depressed, and some unaware of the significance our reactions may entail."

Because of "the greatest harm resulting from the ramifications... is the bad name given to the school," Pinkham suggested adopting the resolution he had drafted.

The resolution itself, after quoting the teachers' alleged implication by political groups, stated:

"This organization therefore, will reserve comment upon these matters."

The resolution was adopted by the 76 present after two readings.

In connection with Miss Bolla's motion that the teachers be polled as to possible impairment of educational effectiveness at Sequoia, Marjorie Lucas, physical education instructor, pointed out that the question could be interpreted in two ways:

1. That "we have been prevented from giving effective instruction."

2. That "we ourselves are not doing an effective job."

However, after amending the original motion to include Kauffman's added phrase, the teachers voted 58 to 16 that the question be submitted to all faculty members.

It was suggested that the poll be postponed until after Friday's election, but Kauffman, stating that the matter already had been made a "political football," urged that the poll be completed by noon today.

"It was the expectation of those who came that they would vote tonight," Kauffman declared.

"What do you mean?" Mrs. Deborah Kiviah, English and dramatics teacher, demanded. "I understood it was to be just a meeting."

Kauffman, in answering, did not explain about the expectation of a vote.

The dismissal of 20 teachers—two of whom later were rehired—came up at the close of the meeting when Claude Van Patten, English teacher who is chairman of the association's welfare committee, introduced a resolution which was adopted.

The resolution commits the association to act as the counsel for a discharged probationary teacher before the board of trustees, if the teacher feels that his professional qualifications were not the basis for his decision.

The resolution in full: "In view of the expectations of appeals by probationary teachers who have not been offered contracts:

"1. We recognize the right and duty of teachers to be concerned with educational policies which definitely affect the welfare and morale of individual teachers."

"2. We recognize the right to speak on these matters without fear of prejudice."

"3. In particular, when a discharged probationary teacher wishes to appeal a decision of the board of trustees because he feels that his professional qualifications and demonstrated fitness have not been the basis for the decision or that the decision is

23 Candidates Seek Posts On School Boards in Area

Twenty-three candidates will be seeking election for posts in 10 South San Mateo County elementary school and high school districts on Friday.

Also a major item in the election will be a $2,150,000 bond issue for expanding facilities of the Sequoia High School Dist.

In the Sequoia High School Dist., Kenneth L. Bowen of Atherton and Keith Cole of San Carlos will seek to unseat the incumbents on the high school board of trustees, Chmn. Walter W. Hilton and Morton S. Brewer, both of Redwood City.

Seeking election in the Redwood City Elementary School Dist. are Mrs. Eleanor Keyes of Atherton and Ray A. Weymouth of Redwood City.

Candidates in other districts include: Belmont Elementary: Carl Hilpisch and Ray Rhodes. Greensburg: King Harris, incumbent.

Las Lomas: Mrs. Hester D. Bonnot, incumbent. Portola: Paul H. Eaton.

San Carlos: Roy W. Hunt and Eric M. Stanford. La Honda: Basil A. Willet, incumbent; Roy E. Getty and Ronald S. Megorden.

Ravenswood: Frank R. Reece, Robert F. Rhoades, Donald C. Neill and Charles E. Dilkes.

Supervisor Martin A. Poss reported that the two districts now are working out an agreement whereby the Three-Cities Dist. would take care of the strip and would be reimbursed by the Pulgas Mosquito Abatement Dist., Asst. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis told the board of supervisors Tuesday.

However, he pointed out that there were two ways in which the strip could be turned over to the Three-Cities Dist., both involving an election.

One way would be to consolidate two mosquito abatement districts. The other would be to dissolve the Pulgas District and reorganize it without including the strip.

J. E. Trabucco of Hillsborough, chairman of the Three-Cities District, had sent a petition to the supervisors asking for the annexation. The petition stated that the territory involved, Laurel Creek Farm and the fields east of Bayshore Hwy., had been annexed to San Mateo, and the district wanted to handle the city as a unit.

"It is a matter of fact that at no time have the financial affairs of the association been misrepresented or withheld from scrutiny. Further, shortly after the campaign at a regular association meeting, the treasurer offered to present a detailed report, but did not because the members voted not to hear it."

"Although we believe that an itemized account of association expenses is entirely a matter that concerns the association, we are happy to make public the following pertinent figures, hoping by such action to set the record straight in everyone's mind:

INCOME

The Belmont Water Dist. board of directors this week awarded the bid on water mains for the Pullman tract to Wenrick and Associates of San Mateo for $14,374.50. Four bids on the job were submitted to the board.

The tract includes 88 parcels of land north of Alston Ave. between Pullman Ave. and Coronet St. According to Lawrence Brian, engineer for the water district, work on the job will probably start within three weeks and will take about 90 days to complete.

Recently the water board voted to stand behind bonds for the project since when the improvements were first proposed none of the San Francisco bonding houses would bid on the bonds.

Brian said that the improvements include installation of 3000 feet of six inch mains and 1200 feet of four inch mains as well as fire hydrants.

Teacher View On Situation At Sequoia

Mrs. Rosa Bloxham Davies, member of the Sequoia High School faculty for 20 years, today gave the public an insight into school politics. While a number of teachers have told the similar stories anonymously, Mrs. Davies was the first to volunteer to issue a statement over her name.

The Times Gazette presents Mrs. Davies' statement without comment:

"It is the privilege of citizens, taxpayers and voters to know the situation at Sequoia as it is today and as it has existed to my knowledge since 1929. This dissatisfaction and turmoil is not a result of one year. Finally the citizens are seeking Sequoia as it has truly been for the past many years. The only difference now is that everything is out in the open and not behind closed doors.

"I am interested in the outcome of the election only as it affects the welfare of students and the future of Sequoia. Each citizen should have the privilege to judge the issue fairly after a fair estimate of the situation as it now stands. I do not wish to back either side but give the information which follows as a means of enlightening a few of the confused people. As one teacher this year stated to me, 'I just wish I knew what all of this is about.' Perhaps many people feel the same way.

"I have been a teacher at Sequoia since 1929 so have had ample time and opportunity to view the situation. After I realized the situation that existed I tried to be neutral and do a good job of teaching without becoming involved in politics. It has been almost impossible. And now it is only in fairness to parents and citizens alike that I speak.

"This situation of dissatisfaction and turmoil has existed since I have been at Sequoia. It had to come out in the open some day and at last a United Board of Trustees and Administration have had the courage to bring it before the public. Let me illustrate with one issue.

"This year you know teachers were dismissed. Previous years you have only been told the names of teachers who resigned. The method seems to be different, fortunately. In the past no one said why a good teacher resigned or was away on leave. Behind closed doors, he or she, was told to resign or other measures would be used.

"Lawyers were called in by teachers desiring an explanation or wishing to uphold their professional standing. The board of trustees was not told of these cases nor did it seem to have any voice in the matter. These cases were settled behind closed doors. Yes, readers, I can give you the names of the lawyers if you so desire.

"On the political issue the public should know a few facts of politics at Sequoia. Last year every teacher was asked to contribute ten dollars ($10.00) for the election. It was supposedly to put over the bond issue. No accounting was ever made to the teachers as a whole as to how the money was spent. I would still like to know who paid for the many pamphlets, cards, etc., distributed by students in the 1948 trustee election. It is my impression and conviction that teachers could do a far better job of teaching if they refrained from entering into political situations as a group.

"This is the first year since I have been at Sequoia that we have had five members of the board of trustees working with the administration. Harmony must begin somewhere and it seems to me that it must start at the top.

"Teachers have been dissatisfied with the control exercised by a few teachers ever since I have been at Sequoia; control that should have been exercised only by the administration.

"It is to be hoped that this dissatisfaction may be controlled and eliminated by the administration and that the goal at Sequoia may become 'Education of the Students.'

TO GET PRESS ROOM
The courthouse press corps no longer will have to suffer in the broom closet which for years has been serving as a press room.

Work started Tuesday on cutting off from the county clerk's office a small room near the front entrance previously used by attorneys and the U. S. Immigration Inspector.

Voters in the Sequoia High School Dist. will cast their ballots Friday at 18 elementary schools within the high school district. Voting hours have been set by each of the elementary school districts.

All 18 polling places will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. for the $2,150,000 high school bond issue, but hours during which voters can cast their ballots for school trustees vary in some districts and do not coincide with the hours of the bond election in several instances.

The district attorney's office was called upon yesterday to rule on what hours the polls could be open in the four elementary districts with an average daily attendance of less than 500 pupils.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis this morning gave an opinion that in all districts the polls for the high school bonds must remain open during the hours advertised, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In the four districts with an ADA less than 500, Belmont, Las Lomas, Greensburg and Portola, balloting in the high school trustees election must be between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m., according to Dematteis.

Elementary elections in the four districts will be held as prescribed by the boards of trustees of the districts although the polls may not be open before 9 a.m. and may not close before 5 p.m.

In the large districts, Redwood City, San Carlos, Ravenswood and Menlo Park, the polls on bonds, high school trustee and elementary trustee will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In Las Lomas, Belmont, and Greensburg ballots in the high school trustee and elementary school trustees race may be cast between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. and in the bond election between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

In Portola, polls for the elementary trustee race will be open between 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., the high school trustee race between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. and the bonds between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Supt. Andrew Spinas of the Redwood City Elementary School Dist. has advised residents that since precincts are consolidated in school elections the best rule of the thumb method for voters is to vote at the school nearest to their homes. In case of question, however, voters should call the county registrar of voters, EM. 6-5711.

He said that in most cases residents are to vote at the school which their children or neighbor's children attend.

Spinas has advised that any residents who are in doubt about where to vote should phone the school district for additional information.

There are eight polling places in the Redwood City Elementary School Dist. They are:

The McKinley School, Duane St.; John Gill School, Jefferson Ave.; Lincoln School, Whipple Ave.; Monroe School, Alden and Alerton Sts.; Hoover School, Stambaugh and Charter Sts.; Washington School, Woodside Rd.; Garfield School, Semicircular Rd.; and Taft School, Bay Rd. and 10th Ave.

Voters in San Carlos may cast their ballots at the Central School, 826 Chestnut St.; the White Oaks School on Cedar St.; and the Arundel School, Phelps Rd., and Clifton St.

Ruth Melendy, superintendent, said that all voters in San Carlos have been sent a card telling at which school the person should vote. She said that anyone who did not receive a card may phone the Central School for that information.

In Ravenswood, residents living east of Bayshore Hwy. vote at the Ravenswood School as do those who live south of Euclid Ave. on the west side of Bayshore Hwy. Residents living west of Bayshore Hwy. vote at the Willow School.

Other polling places in the high school district are: Belmont School Dist.—Central School, Waltemire Ave.

Greensburg School Dist.—Woodside School, Woodside Rd. Las Lomas School Dist.—Las Lomas School, Alameda de las Pulgas.

Menlo Park School Dist.—Central School, 1300 El Camino Real. Portola School Dist.—Portola School, Portola Rd.

City to Remove Meters From Post Office

Parking in front of the Redwood City Post Office will be free and meterless, city councilmen decided Monday night.

BROWNIE DAY CAMP—Part of the program at the Brownie Day Camp to be held at Sequoia High School June 20 to 30 will be the "cookouts" which the girls will hold. Judging by the expressions, on the faces of the group of girls taking part in a recent "cookout" they will be a popular part of the camping program, as what camper isn't ready to eat at the end of the day in the open air.

Brownie Day Camp to Be Held at Sequoia High School From June 20 to 30

Brownie Day Camp will be held at the Sequoia High School campus from June 20 to 30, Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The camp is open to all Girl Scouts who will be in the third or fourth grades next Fall. A registration fee of $1.75 is charged to cover the cost of program material and "cookouts" and an additional fee of $1.25 is charged if transportation is desired.

Day Camp provides ways and time for girls to develop skills which are better acquired out of doors, according to Girl Scout leaders. Day Camp will give the girls their first experience in a camp setting where they may learn simple outdoor cooking, nature study, crafts, dramatics, songs and games. The theme of this year's camp will be "International Friendship" and playlets will be produced to dramatize it.

Mrs. W. F. Teigeler of San Carlos, director of the Brownie Day Camp, will be assisted by Mrs. Allen Maestre.

not based upon the recommendations of those who were in the best position to observe his work, we recognize the right of his professional colleagues to be interested parties in his appeal and to be present as his counsel."

The following is the text of a resolution unanimously adopted last night by 76 members of the Associated Teachers of Sequoia:

Due to the implication of this organization by citizens participating in the approaching political election and bond issue, we believe it is our responsibility to all the voters, to the parents, to the children, and to our professional associates to make the following statement.

1. We strongly urge you to help us provide a better education for the young people of this community by supporting the bond issue which will supply the funds necessary for a speedy completion of sorely needed facilities.

2. Although we shall continue to exercise our rights as citizens to think and act according to our honest beliefs and convictions concerning the present board election, we have not and shall not as a professional organization, bound by the highest of ethical standards, participate in the political election of school board members.

3. Although our organization has been widely implicated by political groups of various convictions, and although this involvement has in numerous instances been unethical, unwarranted, and unwanted, statements based upon distorted fact, rumor, and fancy are still thoughtlessly allowed to tear down the confidence in teachers held by parents and pupils. These statements continually appearing continue to create frustration, false impressions, and bewilderment in the minds of parents, pupils, and teachers alike. We believe that in view of this present practice an attempt by us at this time to clarify, refute, or support any of these involvements would reach the press and be pounced upon by political interests with the inevitable result of even greater confusion and distortion. This organization therefore, will reserve comment upon these matters.

4. As voters, as members of the Associated Teachers of Sequoia, and as members of the teaching profession we feel bound to ask our school board for a reasonable explanation of their part in the unprecedented number of dismissals and resignations of staff members this year.

5. Finally, we wish to reaffirm our faith in the voters of the Sequoia district and to reassure them that as long as we serve as teachers at Sequoia we shall wholeheartedly support all measures designed to promote better education for the children, improve the professional status of teachers, and advance the democratic principles of our American way of life.

HERE'S THE STORY AT SEQUOIA:

1. Your board of trustees is united. This united board is carrying out the recommendations of the Almack Report in accordance with your mandate at the last elections.
2. A clique of tenure-protected teachers resisting the change, began a campaign last Fall to "wreck the school for a year." They have built and ignited their own fire so they can now put it out like heroic firemen. They fostered the troubles they now decry.
3. They flattered and enlisted the aid of parents and made a battleground of the school.
4. This group of teachers is supporting two candidates to carry their fight to the polls.
5. Their election will create more harassment, more turmoil for Sequoia. They will divide the board of trustees. They will build another fire of trouble so they can put it out with another of their own volunteer firemen in 1950. Thus will they restore the faculty control of the district that existed before the Almack report.

Do you 39,000 voters want any group of teachers however large or small to dictate Sequoia's destiny?

Or do you wish to have some say about the type of education your children shall receive?

Atherton Man Elected Stanford Alumni President

Frank Fish Walker of 150 Fair Oaks Ln., Atherton, is the new president of the Stanford Alumni Assn.

Walker, a member of the class of '18, succeeds William S. Kellogg of La Jolla. He is a former financial vice president of Stanford and is general partner in the firm of Dean Witter & Co., San Francisco stockbrokers.

The association's 11-member executive board, of which he has been a member since 1946, named him last weekend during the 17th annual alumni conference at Stanford.

Charles S. Hobbs, '19, of Los Angeles, was named first vice president, and Mrs. Olive Freeman Cook, '40, second vice president.

Sunday's conference program also included a reunion luncheon for 24 members of the class of 1899. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, chancellor, was the principal speaker. The 31 other guests included Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Sterling, Mrs. David Starr Jordan, wife of the first president; Dr. Frederick Durand, emeritus professor of mechanical engineering; Mrs. May Hurlburt Smith, alumni and widow of Prof. Everett W. Hurlburt; Jack W. Shoup, alumni director, and Mrs. Shoup; and Dr. Frank McFarland, emeritus professor of histology, and Mrs. McFarland. The group voted to hold another reunion in five years. According to the alumni office, this year's turnout represented one quarter of the '99 graduating class.

New members of the executive board were chosen Saturday. They are: Alec Davis, Martha Alexander Gerbode and Ruth Fesler Lipman, Paul Harper and Charles Hobbs were reelected to the board.

Holdover members of the board are William S. Kellogg, Richard Guggenheim, Dudley Swim and Otto Hieb. Nearly 1000 alumni attended the two-day conference.

News of Commuters

Sixteen members of the Commuters Club House Committee braved the rain over the weekend to attend the "Nature Study Class" in their hideaway in the Santa Cruz Mountains. The golf tournament was postponed until a later date due to wet grounds, but the other planned events went over with a bang.

Roy Fredlund, in charge of the Commuter's skit in the forthcoming "Club Frolics" to be staged at the Sequoia High School Monday, May 23, and Tuesday, May 24, has been very fortunate in obtaining the able assistance of the erstwhile professional showman Tom Cutting who will present the "Miracle Chef."

Might be well for the ladies to bring along a pencil and notebook to jot down the wonderful recipes the "Chef" might dish out. In addition to this famous act, the "Four Casters", all members of the International S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A., will present barber-shop melodies. This quartet is composed of Bob Oleson, tenor; Morris Prendergast, lead; Rudy Thuer, baritone; and Fred Basso, bass. We can't wait to see this stellar performance of stars who are giving their all for the benefit of the new Scout hall to be built in this city. Newsman Dies After Fall at Home

A veteran San Francisco newspaperman and advertising executive died at his Portola home Tuesday after he lost his footing and fell down a flight of stairs.

The body of Robert H. Willson, 72, was taken to the Layng and Tinney Mortuary where funeral arrangements are pending.

Mr. Willson's widow, Sheila, an invalid, was taken to Community Hospital after her husband died.

According to Dep. Sheriff's Gean Allbee and William Moran, Mr. Willson was walking down the stairs outside his house on Santa Maria Ave., Woodside Highlands, when he slipped and fell to the concrete floor at the bottom of the stairs. He struck his head and suffered a cut.

Mrs. Willson called neighbors, who put Mr. Willson to bed in a downstairs study at the rear of the house. Frank Hill's Woodside Patrol later was called to check on the accident, and the officers found the body.

Mr. Willson had lived in the Portola Valley for about 20 years. He had worked as a reporter on the San Francisco Examiner, as city editor of a Los Angeles paper, and as chief editorial writer of a Chicago newspaper. Until his retirement a year ago Mr. Willson was manager of the Northern California territory of the California Chain Stores Assn.

He was a member of the San Francisco Press Club, and had been chairman of the Late Watch, an organization of veteran San Francisco newspapermen. He also had been president of the San Francisco Advertising Club and of the San Francisco Chapter of the American Marketing Assn.

No Fire, Kids... Go Back to Class

If McKinley School pupils had difficulty paying attention to their studies yesterday, it was all because of a balky furnace.

The Redwood City Fire Dept. with all the attraction that its vehicles have for youngsters, pulled up in front of the school at 11:10 o'clock looking for a blaze. The department had received a call from a worried woman who reported seeing a blaze at the school.

The blaze turned out to be a smoky furnace which was turned on shortly before that. Principal Ralph Case said he had been having a little trouble with the furnace, because it smoked heavily. The department's arrival, however, was the first notice he had that anything was amiss.

La Honda Group Organizes Bldg.

Business men and groups interested in the improvement of the area west of Skyline Blvd. have organized in a body to secure needed improvements in the area, according to Charles Park of the La Honda Improvement Assn., spokesman for the group.

Representatives met this week at Eddie's Grand View restaurant to study and work out cooperative measures to form a central committee which will represent all business and improvement groups west of Skyline Blvd.

Present at the meeting were Eddie Castleman and Joseph Stadler, representing Kings Mountain and Sky-Londa; James Burns of Loma Mar; Kelly Matai and Frank Bell, Pescadero; Eric Alsford, San Gregorio; Ray Getty and Park, La Honda Canyon and Edwin Seares and Lloyd Cummings of Cuesta La Honda.

Temporary officers were chosen to head the organization.

Park keynoted the theme of the meeting declaring that it was popularly believed that the area could further its needs and advantages if business men worked in a collective group.

"The whole area is attracting permanent home owners," said Park, "and it would be to our advantage to secure needed improvements early."

List Man's Death As Suicide

The death of Clinton E. Baitinger, 47, at the Mossotti Auto Court, Brisbane, was listed today by the sheriff's office as suicide.

Mr. Baitinger whose home was at Boulder Creek, shot himself through the mouth with a 22-caliber rifle, Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore declared. The body was found yesterday afternoon, but death was believed to have occurred Monday evening. There was no suicide note and the sheriff's office did not know the cause for the suicide.

Mr. Baitinger had checked into the auto court Monday, and other occupants of the court stated that Monday evening they heard what might have been a shot, but that they took it to be a backfire of a car. A card in Mr. Baitinger's wallet asked that Miss Emy Friend of Boulder Creek be notified in case of accident.

The body was taken to Neir's Funeral Home, South San Francisco. According to the sheriff's office relatives include a brother, Wallace Baitinger, 232 Aragon Blvd., San Mateo.

Peterson Backs Jury On Building

County Executive Frederick Peterson Tuesday threw his weight behind a grand jury recommendation that the county defer new construction, even as members of the board of supervisors spoke out in sharp dissent.

"I believe the grand jury's recommendation regarding the county's new construction program is very sound," Peterson declared.

"Although I'm not anticipating a depression, if a depression should come along, I believe a public works program would be the mainstay against unemployment."

The supervisors, who this morning received the letter of Grand Jury Vice Foreman James B. Howell, said that there was no plan to start work on a new courthouse annex or jail addition during the coming fiscal year.

However, most of the board opposed the grand jury's added recommendation that no tax funds be raised during the year for such construction.

"I believe we should lay aside funds," Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey declared.

"We must build a courthouse. We must build a jail. It is the obligation of the board under general law."

"The only way we can get these buildings is to lay aside some money each year. They've got to be built."

"Howell's letter, in addition to urging the delaying of courthouse and jail construction, recommended that building of a new fire station also be postponed until after the 1949-50 fiscal year."

"The only possible building during next year is the firehouse," Supervisor Martin A. Poss declared. "In my opinion, it is a must."

Supervisor Edward R. McDonald pointed out that the acquisition of California Square in Redwood City for a courthouse annex is tied up in legal red tape, and title probably would not be cleared in time to start work during the coming fiscal year.

Hickey also commended Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch for calling the grand jury's recommendation "astute and ill-advised."

"Howell is trying to throw a scare into people that there is a depression before us," Hatch declared today.

"I have no faith in prognosticators of the future," Hickey chimed in.

Chmn. Henry W. Edmonds pointed out that there are two schools of thought on the financing of public construction projects. One of them maintains that construction should be paid from current taxes, thus relieving the load on future generations.

The other believes that bond issues be used, so that the cost is assumed also by those who later use the facilities.

Peterson pointed out that in the last depression the federal government contributed 45 per cent, or about $107,100, toward San Mateo County courthouse construction, and that the county expended $130,900.

Clinic Head Must Reside In SM County

Dr. Paul Holmer, executive director of the San Mateo Child Guidance Clinic, must reside in the county despite the fact that he is employed part-time on a contract basis, the district attorney's office notified the board of supervisors Tuesday.

Dr. Holmer's status was discussed recently at a meeting of the commission, and the commission's secretary, Mrs. Ruth Bevilacqua, had asked for a legal ruling.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis stated that Dr. Holmer, who lives in Marin County, is required by the county charter to live in San Mateo County, as are other county employees.

"As executive director of the clinic, Dr. Holmer comes within the purview of the charter provision," Dematteis stated.

He pointed out, however, that the only way to get around the charter provisions was to employ Dr. Holmer as a consultant.

The charter provides that trained specialists can be employed as consultants, and that the residency requirement does not hold.

"This means, of course," Dematteis continued, "that he would not perform administrative duties or in any wise be responsible for the operation of the clinic, his services being confined to advisory, consultative and professional activities."

Dr. Holmer was engaged last June 1 under a one-year contract. Mrs. Bevilacqua said that the executive committee of the Child Guidance Commission is to meet Friday to discuss what course to follow.

The committee will present its findings to the commission, but no decision is expected in less than 10 days.

SF Trio Seeks New Trial

Three San Francisco men who were found guilty of robbing the Silver Saddle on March 7 next Monday plan to ask for a new trial.

The trio, Eugene Lagomarsino, 25, Garland Theus, 29, and James Williams, 26, were to be sentenced Monday afternoon by Superior Judge Edmund Scott.

However, the defense attorney, Reed Clarke, announced that the families of the three men have asked that Atty. Nathan C. Coghlan be submitted to represent the trio.

Coghlan asked and received a week's postponement in the case upon announcing that he planned to ask for a new trial "on all statutory grounds."

The three men were captured by San Mateo County deputy sheriffs and San Francisco police after the cafe, at the intersection of Skyline Blvd. and Coast Hwy., was held up. The trio entered dual pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity, and waived a jury trial. Judge Scott found the three guilty and sane.

One of four San Franciscans charged with working a bad check racket in San Mateo and Burlingame yesterday, pleaded guilty to 27 counts of passing rubber checks and conspiracy to pass bad checks.

Bay Area Leading Communications Center

Top-ranking position of the San Francisco Bay Area as one of the nation's leading telephone communications centers is borne out by a Bay Area council study showing approximately 38 telephones for every 1000 residents of the nine Bay counties, or nearly one and one-half times the number of telephones (26) listed for every 100 United States residents.

The council revealed these figures today in assembling data proving the important role of telephone installations in Bay-wide business and residential development. The report shows a Bay Area total of 975,740 telephones on Jan. 1, 1949, a gain of 162,201, or 20 per cent more than at the beginning of 1947. The council study also discloses for the first time that San Francisco has held the national record for telephones per capita for the past eight years since 1941. There were 52.9 telephones for every 100 San Franciscans on Jan. 1, 1949. With a 1948 rate of 47.7 phones per 100 residents,

San Francisco headed all the American cities throughout the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

For a short time, during World War II, San Francisco's telephone leadership was threatened by Washington, D. C., but San Francisco's own record of wartime expansion was matched by gains in telephone installations to offset its national capital rival, Evanston, Ill., with 44.3, and Washington, D. C., with 43.5 telephones per 100 residents are closest to the San Francisco record.

While San Francisco leads Bay counties with 420,383 telephones, or 52.9 phones per 100 residents, Contra Costa County is leading in recent percentage growth in telephone installations, showing a 41 per cent rise to 48,229 phones at the beginning of 1949 as compared with 34,177 on the same date in 1947.

Group Sets Pattern to Curb Delinquency

Six basic measures for combating juvenile delinquency in San Mateo County were recommended recently after a north county youth welfare conference held at South San Francisco High School. In all, 21 steps to be taken toward promoting youth welfare were suggested by the 75 officials in attendance at the two-day conference.

The six basic measures:

1. For a community council in each town in the north end of the county (from San Bruno to the county line) to act as a "working body" in the coordination of plans for youth welfare.

2. Set up family service agencies in the towns to provide case-work services on family problems, working through the Community Chest or some other similar organization.

3. Designate one policeman in each town to act as a specialist in juvenile matters.

4. Refer all divorce cases in superior court, where custody of a child is involved, to the county probation officer for investigation before final disposition is made. The probation officer should determine which parent is better able and better fitted to care for the child.

5. Have the governor appoint a commission to study the state's present alcoholic beverage control act as it affects juveniles.

6. Make it mandatory for schools to permit recreation groups to use their facilities. A bill now in the state legislature would make permission-granting discretionary.

Among the 15 other recommendations was that the county's dental association provide a dentist to serve the Coastside on a part time basis. It was pointed out that, at present, there is no dental service available in that area from the Santa Cruz county line north to San Francisco.

The conference opened Friday night at the high school with an introductory address by Richard J. Dolwig, assemblyman from San Mateo County.

John J. Ivan was the conference chairman.

Industrial Group Urges SC Expansion

Industrial property owners in San Carlos gave their unanimous endorsement last week to a plan for extensive street improvements in the industrial area between El Camino Real and Bayshore Hwy.

At a meeting of the industrial committee of the San Carlos Chamber of Commerce at the Lenkurt Electric Co., property owners gave San Carlos City Engineer Edwin Smith endorsement of a tentative map of the area outlining these improvements:

1. Construction of a new 80-foot service road running parallel to Bayshore Hwy. midway between County Rd. and Bayshore Hwy., running from Holly St. to the North Redwood City city limits.

2. Widening and repaving of County Rd. through the industrial area with a section of 40-foot pavement.

3. Development of Washington Center, an American Sts. to a width of 50 feet; Bayport and East San Carlos Aves. to 50 feet; Bransten Rd. to 50 feet and Brittan Ave. to 60 feet.

At present only one paved road connects County Rd. and Bayshore Hwy. in San Carlos. East San Carlos Ave., Bransten Rd. and Brittan Ave. would be completely paved and cut through the County Rd. to the Bayshore. A fifth new road would be cut through to Bayshore south of Brittan Ave.

The improvements would also include sewers and drainage for the area, according to Howard Brod, San Carlos city manager. Brod, Smith and Clayton Roberts, president of the San Carlos Chamber of Commerce were present at the meeting last night which was one of a series called to investigate improvements in the San Carlos industrial area.

Brod said he would ask the city council to allocate gas tax money for certain improvements in the area. The project will be put through as an assessment district with contiguous property owners paying for developments.

Plans presented by Smith call for the 60-foot streets to have an actual pavement area of 40-feet with a 10-foot strip left on each side of the street for sidewalk area.

Streets of 50-foot width will have 36-feet of paved area and seven feet of sidewalks. The proposed new 80-foot service road will have a 60-foot paved area. Original plans call for the laying of a 44-foot center strip with the additional six-foot strip being laid after development of properties in the area. Provisions are made for 10-foot sidewalks which may also be developed later, Smith declared.

Old County Rd. will be widened to a 40-foot pavement with room for laying an eight-foot sidewalk and curbing.

Property owners gave unanimous approval to Smith's plan and the proposed improvements will next be presented to property owners in petition form. The plan has previously won approval of the San Carlos Planning Commission. The commission held a special meeting to consider the matter.

The questions of assessments and zoning will be considered at another meeting to be held in the San Carlos City Hall on May 31 at 8 p.m.

Brod asked the industrial committee to meet at a later date to consider the assessment matter as he pointed out property owners might not be able to go through with the whole program if the cost was too high.

Planning Commission Chmn. Fred Drake warned property owners of the danger of making the proposed 80-foot service road an "open highway." Drake said if the road were opened up too far it would take traffic from El Camino Real causing a jam up on the service road of commuter traffic.

Miss Fegan suffered a bump on the head and cuts on the left knee. She was treated and released.

According to the California Highway Patrol, the accident occurred at 2:45 a.m. Wallace stated that a wheel of his Austin sedan hit a rock in the road, causing the accident.

The admission is $1 including tax and the show is being given for the benefit of the Redwood City Boy Scout Hall Building Fund.

Members at large and institutional representatives are asked to attend the southern district meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. Every unit should be represented at this meeting as many important items will be discussed.

The council Camp-o-Ree will be held at Coyote Point next Saturday and Sunday, from 9 a.m. Saturday morning to 3:30 p.m. on Sunday. Church services have been arranged for. Contests have been so arranged that even the newest tenderfoot can take part in some of them, and the scoring on troop proficiency has been designed to aid in better camping through the promotion of good ideas, rather than for penalizing patrols not completely familiar with camping techniques.

The large number of troops registered for this event indicates the amount of interest it has excited throughout the county.

Fourteen scouts from troop 143, accompanied by two leaders, went camping over the weekend of May 7 and 8. On the previous weekend this active group had distributed navy posters throughout the Redwood City area. Scoutmaster George Schiel reports that Bob Pimental is now a first class scout and Layne Myers and James Burgard have qualified for second class rank.

Scribe Bruce Mohn reports that the boys of Troop 120, Redwood City have been asked to aid with the cancer drive. At present the scouts are devoting their weekly meeting to work on first aid and knot tying. Seven

John B. Nelson of Box 900, Stanford University, suffered minor injuries Monday when he was struck by a car while crossing Santa Cruz Ave. at El Camino Real in Menlo Park.

Salvatore J. Calamia of San Jose, driver of the car that hit Nelson, told police his brakes failed as he was approaching the intersection. He said the car had just come out of a garage after being overhauled.

Nelson was treated at Palo Alto Hospital for minor leg injuries and dismissed. Menlo Park police did not issue a citation.

Members of the San Mateo Mental Health Society reviewed an army film, "Shades of Gray," at a meeting of the society held this week at the Redwood City Woman's Club.

More than 75 persons attended the meeting and joined in a discussion of the film.
